ABSTRACT

Organized by sections of the newspaper, this booklet contains activity sheets that can be used to teach basic skills in a variety of subject areas, including language arts, reading, mathematics, social studies, and science. Designed for adaptation to most grade levels, the activity sheets allow students to use different newspaper sections to locate details, categorize, sequence, distinguish fact from opinion, locate main ideas, form sentences, find facts, think critically, solve math problems, write creatively, comprehend, organize facts, and understand consumer information.

Newspaper in Education

To the teacher. . .

This booklet represents a collection of newspaper activity sheets suitable for making classroom copies. The booklet is organized by sections of the newspaper including an explanation and activities for each section. The subject content areas covered include language arts, reading, math, social studies, and science. Most activities can be adapted to fit any grade level.

The booklet is intended to cover a variety of basic skills. Some of these skills include locating details, categorizing, sequencing, distinguishing fact from opinion, locating the main idea, forming sentences, fact finding, critical thinking, math, creative writing, comprehension, organizing facts, and consumer information.

The TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM sponsors an active Newspaper in Education program. The TELEGRAM provides classroom sets of newspapers at half price, tours, educational material, speakers, newsletters, and workshops. Contact the TELEGRAM'S Newspaper in Education coordinator to find out how the newspaper can be a valuable asset to your classroom.

...a special thanks to the TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM composing department for many hours of typesetting, and Jane Youngblood, artist.

OUR ROOTS

In 1907 when Temple was a small railroad town, E. K. Williams and J. F. Crouch converted the TEMPLE TIMES into Temple's first daily newspaper and christened it the TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM.

On November 1, 1929, Ward C. Mayborn and his three sons purchased the TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM from the TEMPLE PUBLISHING COMPANY.

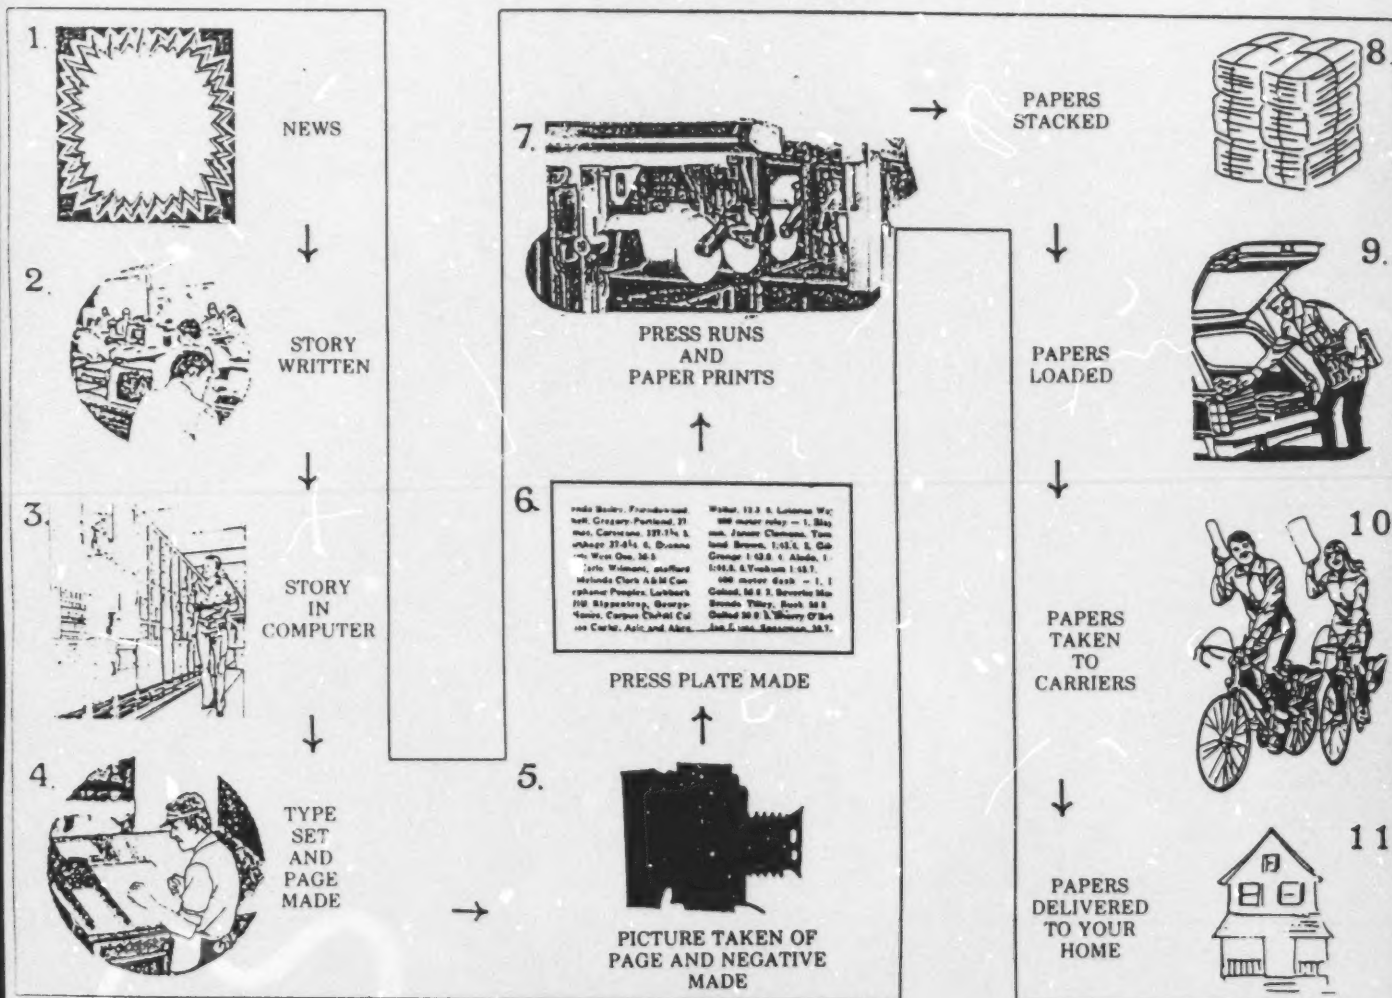

BEST COPY

Present ownership of the TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM is organized under the Bell Publishing Company headed by President and Publisher Frank W. Mayborn. Bell Publishing Company grew out of a depression-caused reorganization in 1934 and has operated the newspaper ever since.

Bell Publishing Company also publishes the FORT HOOD SENTINEL, the Army newspaper for Fort Hood.

NEWS

The news stories are simple, concise reportings of the facts. Each day the news writers are faced with countless stories on the local, state, national, and international level. The editor must decide which stories must be covered. If the story is a local one, then a reporter is sent to the scene. The reporter then types the story into the computer.

The TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM cannot send reporters all over the world. There is a special way to get the news called the wire service. Other reporters cover the stories and send the stories to the wire services. The TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM uses the Associated Press Wire Service and the stories come into the computers already written. The editor chooses which stories he feels are important enough to be in the newspaper.

1. Have students read the front page for a week. Each day take a class count of the most important story for the day. At the end of the week, vote on the top story for the week.
2. Find and cut out examples of 3 kinds of news stories: international, national, state, and local.
3. In groups, cut out many news stories and pictures for a week. Let students edit the stories and make their own front page. Paste the stories on newsprint the size of a front page. Students in groups must agree on the stories. Compare the pages done by the different groups.
4. Cut out stories and let students write their own headlines.
5. Keep a notebook of current running stories such as civic controversy, custody suits, trials, etc. Students can write predictions of the outcomes.
6. Find the most effective headline on the page and tell why you think it is effective.
7. Write headlines for stories such as: (a) Cinderella, (b) Snow White, (c) Noah's Ark, (d) Romeo and Juliet.
8. Cut out headlines and articles. Let the students match the headlines and the articles.
9. Cut out news stories. Let students list or underline the 5 W's. These can be pasted and labeled on construction paper, notebook paper, or on a form.
10. Cut out words from the headlines. Put them in a box and let the students make sentences out of the words.

Astronauts' Families Return To Houston

SPACECENTER, Houston (AP) - The families of shuttle astronauts John Young and Bob Crippen flew home to Houston Sunday after watching the fiery Florida launch of the spaceship Columbia.

Looking tired and a mite testy, wives Susy Young and Virginia Crippen arrived at nearby Ellington Air Force Base at 1:10 p.m.

They emerged from the sleek blue and white NASA jet, swept quickly past a small welcoming party and climbed into separate vans for the short hop to this Texas space community.

A short time later, several members of the astronauts' families visited Mission Control, heartbeat of the Johnson Space Agency.

At Ellington, neither wife spoke, although the airbase reception party included television personality Hugh Downs.

Sunday morning's delayed liftoff was as spectacular as it was flawless, with rockets spewing smoke and flames onto the launch pad and up into the Florida sky.

The shuttle families left for Texas almost at once.

Susy Young, the Columbia commander's second wife, hid her face behind a floral spray and tripped as she descended the steps of the aircraft.

Young's children by his previous marriage, Sandy, 23, and John, 22, touched down at Ellington 10 minutes earlier on a separate flight from the Cape. Sandy was accompanied by her husband, Thomas Gay.

The silent assemblage also included Crippen's mother, a colorful saloon owner in Porter, Texas.

Crippen's three teen-age daughters, Ellen Marie, 18, Susan Lynn, 16, and Linda Ruth, 13, flew back with their mother.

BELTON — Somewhere in the wilds west of Belton, there lurks a wild animal that has the stuff of which legends are made.

It's received a name of somewhat legendary proportions — "Little Foot" — from a national news service.

"Little Foot," a South American coati-mundi, is a survivor.

After the animal was released from Bell County Zoo last year, zoo co-owner Richard Hix assumed the animal died during the winter.

"Little Foot," however, surfaced Tuesday.

Hix said he will begin looking for the coati-mundi when the rain stops.

KTON disc jockey J.J. Pollei spotted the animal Tuesday night about two blocks from the radio station.

"I noticed him in a group of trees and said to myself, 'Look at the size of that possum'," Pollei said.

The animal is the size and has the markings of a raccoon. It has a long tail, and his nose "looks like he got it caught in a door and tried to back out," Hix said.

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Kay, a sixth round draft choice from Purdue, signed a contract with the Houston Oilers. General Manager Ladd Herzog announced Thursday.

Kay, an Associated Press All-Big team defensive back, finished his career with 10 interceptions, the second best total in the school's history.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Ann Odre, the American woman wounded in the attack on Pope John Paul II, had a tearful meeting with the pontiff in his private Vatican apartment Thursday, and the two spoke in the language of their common heritage: Polish.

"Both of them were obviously very moved," Mrs. Odre's doctor Federico Meneghini, who was also present, said in a telephone interview with The Associated Press. "The pope told her that she had suffered for him."

Mrs. Odre, 58, a resident of Buffalo, N.Y., was driven the five blocks from Santo Spirito Hospital to the Vatican.

EDITORIAL

The editorial page is an important part of our democratic society. We are fortunate enough to live in a free country which has freedom of the press. Freedom of the press is granted to us in the First Amendment to the Constitution. The editorial page is a page where people can tell us their opinions, or how they feel about certain topics. These opinions can be written by TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM editors, syndicated columnists (who write for many newspapers), or ordinary people who write letters to the editor.

Editorials have several purposes:

- a. to influence opinion
- b. to secure reform
- c. to inform
- d. to promote worthy causes
- e. to show appreciation
- f. to entertain

1. Have students read an editorial and then write the opposite point of view.

6. Have students write about what the political cartoon is trying to say.

2. Underline opinion words on the editorial page such as think, imply, suggest, in my opinion, probably, suppose. Make a list of these.

7. Draw a political cartoon.

3. Have students read an editorial and state the opinion in one sentence.

8. Look at an editorial cartoon and answer the following questions:

- a. What issue is the topic of the cartoon?
- b. Is there exaggeration in the cartoon?
- c. What is the opinion of the cartoon?
- d. Do you agree or disagree with the cartoon?

4. Write a letter to the editor.

9. Students choose an editorial and answer the following questions:

- a. What is the issue?
- b. What side of the issue is represented?
- c. What specific evidence is presented to support that position?
- d. Is there any evidence in this article which may support another point of view?
- e. In what ways does the writer indicate a bias?
- f. What particular words or patterns of writing are used to communicate this bias?

5. Cut out an editorial and underline the facts in blue and the opinions in red.

THE OTHER SIDE

READ THE EDITORIAL. WRITE AN EDITORIAL BELOW TAKING THE OPPOSITE SIDE.

Reagan And The Draft

The high expectations of former President Nixon upon junking of the military draft in 1973 have failed to materialize.

Even Nixon conceded last fall that the vision of "enhanced prestige" for the military had been drastically distorted. Many members of Congress who supported discontinuance of the draft eight years ago agree that the all-volunteer concept falls short of meeting defense needs.

Recruiting goals are not met. Educational levels of enlistees have dropped. The higher pay and benefits instituted to encourage enlistments are expensive.

President Reagan, during last year's campaign, opposed not only the reinstatement of the draft, but registration for the draft.

His concern for a defense establishment on a level with that of our adversaries, however, may persuade a change of heart. Military leaders are becoming convinced that a return to the draft is essential.

The political impact on the president's economic program of a drive to bring back Selective Service is uncertain. It is a problem the president and his advisers would prefer to avoid.

But it seems more and more likely that the integrity of American principles and hopes will make the draft imperative. The message to our allies — and our potential enemies — of a national commitment would be clear.

THE POLITICAL CARTOON

STUDY THE CARTOON THEN ANSWER THE QUESTIONS.

1. State what this cartoon has to say in one sentence.
2. Tell why you agree or disagree with this cartoon.

FEATURES

There are several different types of feature stories found in the TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM; news features, women's news, human interest stories, and leisure.

News features provide background information on current news events. They contain additional information which sometimes has a more human interest approach.

There are several types of articles found in the women's section: recipes, ads, women's needs, consumer information, wedding announcements, birth announcements, society news, club information, family features, child care information, fashion news, syndicated columns such as Ann Landers and Erma Bombeck, and many other items.

Human interest features are written about people, places, and things that are interesting to the average person. These stories do not have to be important news items.

The leisure section is designed to inform people as to the various forms of recreation and entertainment available. These include the T.V. guide, the movie listings, reviews, hobbies, restaurants, travel information, civic events, and other information. There is a special tabloid each week in the TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM'S Sunday edition dealing with leisure information.

1. Have students locate and compare news features with news stories.
2. Keep a notebook of all of the different types of articles in the Women's Section. Write a brief description of each.
3. Have students work in pairs to write their own advice columns.
4. Cut off answers in Ann Landers' advice column. Have students write their own answers, then compare them with Ann Landers' answers.
5. Using a recipe from the newspaper, have students plan the cost of a recipe by using the grocery ads.
6. Have students write about a wedding they attended. Use a newspaper write-up as a guide.
7. Have students write their own human interest stories about themselves, someone in their family, someone they know, or a classmate.
8. Use the movie and restaurant ads. How much would it cost for a family of 4 to go out to eat and to a movie?
9. Write a review of a T.V. show.
10. Cut out the movie titles for a month. Cut the words from the titles and see if you can make some funny titles by putting different ones together. (Be careful!)

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am the mother of two daughters, both in their 20s. They simply cannot get along. It's not that they argue — they completely ignore one another. I honestly believe they hate each other. This is extremely unpleasant because we all live under the same roof.

When I try to get these girls to do things together, it seems to push them further apart. Should I keep trying to make peace, or should I just let them lead their own lives and hope one day they will become friends? — NYC

WRITE YOUR

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me how to bring a telephone conversation to an end without feeling guilty.

I have this friend who calls almost every day. She has trouble with her daughter-in-law, her cousin, her neighbors, etc. I feel sorry for her, but there are not enough hours in the day to listen. When I try to be sympathetic and say, "I understand," she shrieks, "YOU DON'T UNDERSTAND! NO ONE COULD POSSIBLY UNDERSTAND." Then she gets mad at me. I am depressed for days.

I know you've handled this in your column before. If you answer my letter, I promise to tape the response above my phone.

WEATHER

The TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM gives the weather forecast for the Temple area on the front page. The weather contains the forecast, high and low temperatures, sunrise, sunset, moonrise, moonset, and lake levels at Belton and Stillhouse. There is also a national weather map with high and low temperatures listed for major cities.

The weather is an important part of our lives. We live and dress according to the weather. If we travel, we need to know what the weather is like where we are going.

1. Keep a list of high and low temperatures for a week. Make a graph from the temperatures. This can also be kept for a month with each student responsible for a day.
2. After a study of the weather, predict the weather each day for the following day. See who has the best record.
3. Keep charts of temperatures, lake levels, wind velocities, sunrises, etc.
4. Use a map of the United States. Have a different student each day put weather symbols on the map. (Use the U.S. Temperatures in the newspapers for symbols.)
5. Convert fahrenheit to centigrade. Use the temperatures given in the U.S. Temperatures weather report.
6. Clip pictures from the newspapers that are seasonal.
7. Chart the path of hurricanes using the reports in the newspaper.
8. Chart the weather for a month. Answer questions and make graphs from the chart.
9. Make a graph showing the daylight hours.
10. Keep up with the length of days in different seasons by using the weather reports. Keep a chart of sunrise and sunset times. Discuss the earth's orbit, change of seasons, winter solstice, and the equinox.

SPORTS

Being active in sports activities has become a popular part of American life. Because we use machines and computers in many of our jobs, we have become interested in different forms of physical activity during our spare time. People are also more interested in the importance of our physical well-being. The sports section of the TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM seeks to provide people with the information needed for both spectator sports and sports in which people can participate.

1. Make a list of vocabulary words and definitions that pertain to sports. Use the newspaper to find the words.

2. Write about your favorite sport. Cut out newspaper articles that tell about your sport.

3. Count the numbers on the sports page.

4. Circle certain numbers on the sports page.

5. Black out all the numbers in an article on the sports page. How important are numbers.

6. Keep a list of scores for your favorite team. At the end of the season or time period, add up the total points scored for your team. Find the average number of points scored.

7. List 10 different words for win and lose which the sports writers use.

8. Keep a record chart for the wins and losses of your favorite team.

9. Keep a record chart for your favorite baseball player. Have 4 columns: date, at bat, hits, and percentage. Keep this record for 10 games. You can compute the average number of times at bat and the average number of hits per game.

10. Make a list of famous players for a certain sport. Read the list to the class and see if they can guess the sport.

DOUBLE PLAY

Area Units Open Baseball Playoffs

Troy will hope to get in its rain-delayed bi-district baseball playoff game today. Cameron will play a rematch of last year's bi-district game and Salado will warily examine the progress of its injured star pitcher with an eye on Wednesday's playoff date.

Monday's scheduled game between Troy and Clifton was postponed due to poor field conditions and the two will meet in a Class 2A game tonight at Midway High School in Hewitt in the second game of a double-header. Midway and Austin Westlake will play in the first game at 4:30 p.m. in a Class 4A bi-district match and the Troy-Clifton game is expected to start at approximately 7:15.

Cameron, 17-6 on the season, will travel to Pflugerville to take on the 18-2 Panthers in a Class 3A playoff at 5 p.m. The game is almost an exact rematch of last year's contest, including the starting pitchers. Cameron, which won last year's game 4-3, will open with 11-0 senior lefty Allen Sapp on the mound, while Pflugerville will go with right-hander Dwain Smith. Cameron had to rely on some seventh-inning heroics to take the win last year.

"I understand they played quite a game last year," said first-year Cameron Coach Benji Shipp. "I know Pflugerville has a really good team, but I think we can do it."

Salado, which plays D'Hanis Wednesday at Seguin at 4 p.m. in a Class A match, will watch closely as junior right-hander Brooks Frazier throws for the first time since suffering an injury to his pitching hand Saturday in a warm-up game.

"It looked pretty good today," said Salado Coach Phil Derrick after Monday's practice. "The swelling is all gone, but it's still a real touchy situation. He wants to throw, but we didn't let him do anything today. If Brooks can't throw, or if he starts but doesn't feel right, we'll go to Robbie Herrington. The boys and I all have confidence in Robbie and we know he can get the job done. Right now, though, we still just don't know what will happen."

READ THE ARTICLE AND CIRCLE THE CORRECT MEANING.

1. play—drama, fun, action of a game
2. star—a heavenly body, a distinguished person, an actor
3. pitcher—a container, the player who throws the ball, a painting
4. date—a period of time, fruit from a palm tree, to go someplace with someone
5. field—a pasture, a battleground, an area designated for sports
6. meet—to oppose, to be on time, beef
7. match—used to start a fire, equals, a contest
8. watch—to look closely, to be careful, a timepiece
9. hand—a laborer, part of a clock, applause, part of the arm
10. real—true, very, actual

Baseball Talks Resume Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators for major-league players and clubowners are to sit down with a federal mediator today, 10 days before a threatened baseball strike.

Kenneth Moffett, acting head of the federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, called the two sides to the meeting scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. EDT in the midtown offices of Ray Grebey, executive director of the Player Relations Committee.

It will be the second bargaining session in nine days. The two sides met with Moffett for more than two hours May 11, with little progress apparently made.

Grebey, the chief bargainer for the owners, said before that session that he was not optimistic about averting baseball's second players' strike in nine years.

Grebey and Marvin Miller, head of the Major League Baseball Players Association, declined to discuss last week's meeting. But Doug DeCinces, the Baltimore Orioles' third baseman and American League player representative, said afterward that there was "still a long way to go."

The players have threatened to strike May 29 over the sole issue left unresolved in a contract settlement a year ago: Free-agent compensation.

The owners in February unilaterally implemented a compensation plan.

LAKE REPORTS

ANSWER THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS FROM THE "LAKE REPORTS" COLUMN IN THE THURSDAY EDITION OF THE TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM.

LAKE BELTON—Crappie were biting in the Leon River arm and white bass and hybrids were fairly active on the main body of the lake, fishing guide George O'Connor reported. Hybrids were increasing a bit in size, with 5-pounders not uncommon. Crappie and catfish were biting at Frank's Lakeview Marina.

STILLHOUSE HOLLOW—Cedar Gap Bridge was the center of activity for black bass, white bass, crappie and catfish. Willie Holmes of Stillhouse Lakeview Marina reported. Blacks, crappie and cats were biting at Bluff Park, whites were biting at the swimming area and crappie, whites and blacks were biting at the marina.

BUCHANAN—Action slowed as the weather began changing, but some stripers, crappie and catfish were caught. Silver Creek Marina at Burnet reported. Lemon's Camp at Bend on the Colorado River above the lake reported pan-sized catfish plentiful.

GRANGER & GEORGETOWN—Black bass and crappie were biting in the brush in upper Georgetown. Georgetown Boats and Motors reported. Purple glitter worms were getting the best results for bass. No reports were available for Granger.

WHITNEY—Fishing improved earlier in the week, with stripers providing the most action on perch, the Lake Whitney Association reported, but the effect of the week's cold front had still not been determined Wednesday afternoon.

TRAVIS—Catfishing improved as the front passed. James Court at Burnham Sporting Goods in Marble Falls reported. Crappie action was fair before the front but things had not settled down by Wednesday afternoon.

SOMERVILLE—Cat fishing was good and small hybrids were being caught. Big Creek Marina at Somerville reported.

CANYON—Crappie and white bass were biting minnows and cats were hitting shump and worms at night. Crane's Mill Marina at New Braunfels reported.

GULF COAST

GALVESTON—Croaker accounted for most of the fishing done on the upper coast. A.C. Becker of the Galveston Daily News reported. The flounder run was still waiting for the cold front to pass before getting underway. A few redfish were taken on the jetties, but most were too big and over the new 30-inch limit.

1. Name as many native fish of Texas as you can.
2. Name the ocean fish listed in the report.
3. List the Central Texas lakes.
4. Alphabetize your list.
5. List as many types of bait as you can.
6. Which lakes had good fishing for the following fish: catfish, crappie, black bass, white bass?
7. List the sources of information that this reporter used for each lake.
8. List the names of 5 marinas.
9. Name the two lakes that are the closest to Temple.
10. List the two lakes that are the farthest from Temple.

COMICS

The comics are sent to the TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM from the syndicated news services. They are sent through the mail about once a month. The comics are drawn by many different cartoonists who send them to the syndicated services. The comics are dated and are sent on sheets of paper, about four to a page. Each day the comic with the correct date is cut out, pasted on a large grid sheet, photographed, and printed. The Sunday color comics are delivered to the TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM already printed.

Comics have purposes other than being funny. Being able to laugh at ourselves is an important part of human nature. But, comics also teach moral values and behavior, and some deal in day to day human drama.

1. Find and list examples of conflicts in the comics.

6. Find examples of characters who live differently than you do. Describe these differences.

2. Black out the balloons in a comic strip and let the students write their own. Students can do this themselves and exchange papers. They can black out one of the frames, some of the frames, or all of the frames.

7. Cut out a comic strip and remove the last frame. Paste the comic strip on paper and draw your own last frame.

3. Find examples of American values in the comics. Discuss these.

8. Teach figures of speech using comics: simile, alliteration, metaphor, and personification. Identify and label these. See who can find the most.

4. Do a detailed study of "Peanuts". Study all of the characters including the cartoonist, Charles Schulz. Keep a notebook of daily comic strips to do character studies.

9. Write a one paragraph summary of a comic.

5. Study slang in the comics. Write meanings of slang words. Rewrite a comic strip changing slang into correct English.

10. Write down character traits of your favorite comic character. Read them to the class and let others guess who it is.

DISPLAY ADVERTISING

Display advertising is different from classified advertising in that the ads are larger and contain pictures and sometimes color. Also, display advertising is located throughout the entire newspaper. The ads are placed by businesses or individuals with the purpose of informing consumers as to what they are selling or offering.

Display advertising also serves the purpose of providing the bulk of the expense used to operate a newspaper. It is because of advertising that the consumer can purchase a newspaper at a cheap rate. The newspaper provides a valuable service for the business because the business has to have a way to get its message to the public.

1. Cut out and mount display ads. Have students find differences between regular prices and sale prices.
2. Find the most expensive and least expensive items in ads
3. Use the material ads and find out how much it would cost to make a dress. How much would 5 yards cost? $\frac{1}{2}$ yard?
3. If 4 tires cost $99, how much would one tire cost? Use the ads for math problem solving.
5. Teach consumer buying with the newspaper. Find the cost of a refrigerator (or any household item) with 5% sales tax. Find rates of interest on financing.
6. Give students $50 for groceries or $100 for clothing and let them use the ads in the newspaper to shop.
7. Use the ads to study the following: changing fractions into decimals or vice versa, percentages, rounding-off,, computing one or more, differences, and consumer education.
8. Study sequencing. Use the grocery ads to study higher than and lower than. Find the most expensive and the least expensive.
9. Use the pictures in the grocery ads to study food groups or tooth decay.
10. Have a scavenger hunt. Locate items in the ads such as: prices, certain items, phone numbers, addresses, fractions, etc. Students can circle them or cut them out.

ADVERTISING

FIVE FUNDAMENTALS OF ADVERTISING

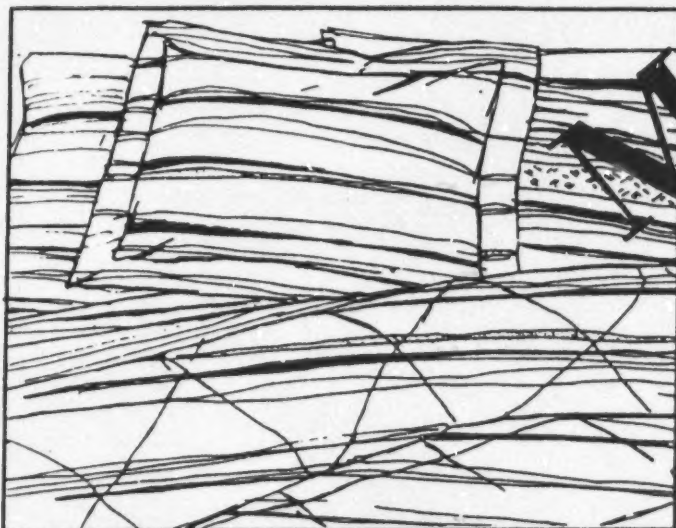

USING THE NEWSPAPER, FIND EXAMPLES OF GOOD ADVERTISING. SUPPORT YOUR ANSWERS BY USING THE FIVE FUNDAMENTALS OF ADVERTISING LISTED BELOW.

1. Get attention through positive treatment.
2. Show people the advantages of the product.
3. Create a need for the product.
4. Persuade the people to buy the product.
5. Ask for action from the buyer.

PROPAGANDA TECHNIQUES

FIND EXAMPLES IN THE NEWSPAPER ADS OF THE FOLLOWING TECHNIQUES. BE ABLE TO DISCUSS THESE.

1. Bandwagon-"everybody uses it".
2. Card Stacking-half truths which have no point in the discussion. Presenting facts for one side only.
3. Hero Worship-"Earl Campbell drinks 7-UP" or "Tony Dorsett eats at Jack-in-the-Box".
4. Glittering Generalities-"this product is best" or "It's the American way".
5. Name Calling-giving bad names to other products.
6. Plain Folks-"Ya'll git Jimmy Dean Sausage, hear?" or a picture of a farmer and the product.
7. Testimonial-"I tried Tide and I liked it".
8. Transfer-transferring feelings to the thing being sold (such as a pretty girl standing next to a car). This means that if someone buys the car, the person will be attractive.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

The classified ads or want-ads contain many items to buy, sell, or trade. There is also information important to the public. People can call the TEMPLE DAILY TELEGRAM to place a classified ad in the newspaper. The ads are typed into a computer which automatically sets the type and sends the bill. The ads can be recalled and changed if need be. The ads are arranged in columns under headings. The different sections are as follows: automobiles, notices to the public, lost and found, business services, building and home maintenance, financial, education, employment, merchandise, pets, rentals, and real estate.

1. Tell how the want-ads are organized. Discuss the purpose, style, and effectiveness of the ads.
2. List 10 different items advertised.
3. Write a want-ad for a certain item. Limit the number of words. Why is there a limit?
4. Take a want-ad and write the ad in paragraph form.
5. Select any ad and tell why you think it is effective.
6. Pick out several ads and tell what information is left out that a person would need to know before he bought the item.
7. Write a classified ad about something or someone. Let others guess who or what it is.
8. Have students find an apartment they would like to rent. Find how much the apartment would cost for a year.
9. Find tax rates for houses for a year.
10. Use a classified ad price chart and compute how much the ads cost.
